

Scotts Fireplace Captures the Artistry and Allure of Flame

FIREPLACES HAVE AN ALLURE that takes them beyond their functional purpose of providing heat and Scotts Fireplace embraces that concept. If you are drawn to flames, today more than ever, choosing fire as a focal point offers a vast array of options to suit your living space. Each design element is exquisite in its own right and Scotts Fireplace pushes beyond the traditional ideals to allow fire to take on different forms and presentations. This is certainly proven out in the inspiring showroom of Scotts Fireplace, located in the Home Gallery at Manning Road and County Road 46.

Since 1993, Scotts Fireplace has been building a reputation for custom design and quality workmanship. When it comes to installing or revitalizing any wood, gas, propane or electric fireplace, Scotts Fireplace provides the complete scope of services your project will require. "We do all the work, there is no contracting out," says owners AJ Godwin and Emile Anhorn.

"We also do a complete job, giving the entire wall the attention required, not just the fire focal point." This is an important aspect when choosing a fireplace as a part of the distinct character of your home. The synergy begins with the careful planning of the project where Scotts Fireplace brings together your ideas with their own advice based on knowledge and experience. Then they bring those ideas to form, from start to finish.

"All aspects of the fireplace installation, framing the fireplace, dry walling and finishing it with either a cast stone mantel or our LedgeStone products to complete the look, we take on the whole project as our own," AJ stresses. Fireplaces are inviting, and more than ever before, technology has made more homeowners welcome them not only because of the convenience and realism of gas and propane inserts, but the innovative way you can have an authentic wood burning fire without the work of lighting. "There is no messing with the right mix of kindling to get the fire going. It is really quite amazing because this is what deters so many people from having an authentic wood fireplace." Says AJ.

If you love a wood fire but are hesitant you'll be interested to know that Scotts Fireplace is carrying a brand new product designed for new wood fireplace installations called Green Start, by Travis Industries.

Another important consideration with natural wood burning fireplaces is the safety standards involved. Your insurance company requires your fire feature to be WETT certified. This means a certified professional in Wood Energy Technology Transfer has inspected and qualified your particular wood burning fireplace project. Scotts Fireplace is one of three in the Windsor/Essex area that hold the requirements to offer WETT certification.

"This speaks to the training and professionalism behind what you see in a fireplace," AJ points out. "The main thing is that we are full service so that you have full enjoyment from your fireplace." says AJ.

For those who have specific visions for their space, Scotts Fireplace has crafted stunning custom projects that will inspire and prove they have the technical and artistic qualifications to take on your fire focal point. Recently, their efforts at Central Park Athletics (the former Windsor Ice Park) have made an impressive statement of their creative abilities with their design and construction of an 18-foot linear fireplace.

Visit Scotts Fireplace to see how their expressive use of the element of fire can transform the ambiance of your indoor or outdoor living space.
